

Natural characteristics of wood and bamboo that are not considered product defects and are therefore not covered by warranty claims:

- slight variations in the shades of slats, headrails, tapes, and cords,
- natural wood grain, knots, and minor imperfections in the wood,
- slight twisting or bending of slats within acceptable tolerances,
- natural fading and colour changes caused by sunlight exposure,
- marks or staining on slats caused by decorative tapes,
- minor differences in slat alignment between products,

- rough slat edges,

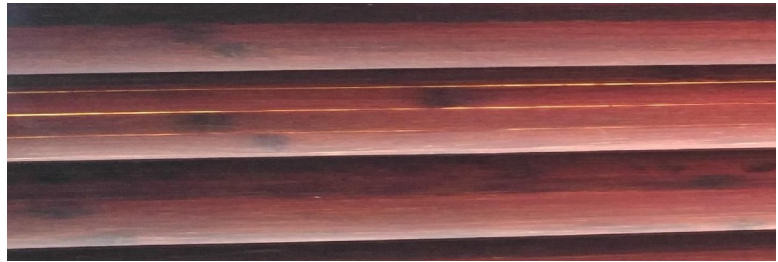

- small chips around the cord holes,

- visible wood joints (finger joints),

- light gaps and structural variations in bamboo slats,

- differences in ladder positioning between blinds installed next to each other, unless specified at the time of ordering.

Wood and bamboo are natural materials; therefore, each blind may have its own unique appearance and structure.

The above information applies exclusively to economical wooden blinds ECO.